And the school for the day is dismissed, The little ones gatner around me To bid me good night and be kissed; Wi the little white arms that encircle My neck, in their tender embrace, OI the smiles that are halos of heaven, Shedding sunshine of love on my face.

And when they are gone, I sit dreaming Of my childhood, too levely to last! Of love that my heart will remember While it wakes to the pulse of the past Ere the world and its wickedness made me A partner of sorrow and sin:

When the glory of God was about me, . And the glory of gladness within. . O! my heart grows as weak as a woman's,

And the fount of my feelings will flow, When I think of the paths steep and stony, .Where the feet of the dear ones must go; Of the mountains of sin hanging o'er them-Of the tempests of Fate blowing wild, Of there's nothing on earth half so holy, As the innocent heart of a child!

They are idols of hearts and of households They are angels of God in disguise; His sunlight still sleeps in their tresses; His glory still gleams in their eyes: Of those truants from home and from heaven, They have made me more manly and mild: And I know, now, how Jesus could liken The kingdom of God to a child.

I ask not a life for the dear one All radiant, as others have done, But that life may have just enough shadow To temper the glare of the sun;

I would pray God to guard them from evil, But my prayers would bound back to myself. Ah! a seraph may pray for a sinner, But a sinner must pray for himself.

The twig is so easily bended I have banished the rule and the rod; I have taught them the goodness of knowledge They have taught me the goodness of God; My heart is a dangeon of darkness

Where I shut them for breaking a rule, My frown is sufficient correction, My love is the law of the school. I shall leave the old house in the autumn, To traverse its threshhold no more;

Anthow shall I sigh for the dear ones That meet me each morn at the door! I shall miss the "good-nights," and the kisses, And the gush of their innocent glee, The group on the green, and the flowers That are brought every morning for me.

Their song in the school and the street; I shall miss the low hum of their voices, And the tramp of their delicate feet. When the lessons of life are all ended, And death says, "The school is dismissed!" May the little one gather around me, To bid me good-night and be kissed.

I shall miss them at morn and at eve-

A letter from Texas to one of the leading Manchester manufacturers, is published in the Englished in the English papers. The writer says Texas is in a flourishing condition, and so many negroes have been brought into the country during the war that labor is abundant, and a large cotton crop is growing. He says the product of Texas the present year will be at least 500,000 bales, but he thinks the crop of the other Confederate States will not exceed 400,000 bales.

The nerve of a tooth, not so large as the finest sewing needle, will sometimes drive a man to distraction. A mosquito can make an elephant absolutely mad. The corol rock, which causes a navy to founder, is the work of worms. The warrior that has with stood death in a thousand forms may be killed by an insect.

FLUX. STRICKLAND'S Anti-Cholera Mixture, so long enjoyed in Central America and the West Indies. In Is a composition of astringents, absorbents stimulants and carminatives, which every physician acknowledges is the only preparation that will effect a permanent cure of Diarrhea and Dysentery. This Anti-Cholera Mixture is now in use in several of our army hospitals where it gives the greatest satisfaction. It has saved the lives of thousands of our soldiers and estizons. and its attendant train of symptoms, it acts more like a charm than a medicine. There is that can for a moment bear a comparison with it in this disease. and we will guarantee it to be the best remedy in the world for Diarrhosa and Dysentery.

Mr. Woods, of Coyington, Ky., will be most happy to satisfy any one as to the virtue of Strickland's Anti-Cholera Mixture; in fact we have a great number of testimonials from pato offer to the public a combination of Cedron with other improved tonics, the whole preservetients who have been cured after being proin he best quality of copper-distilled Bourbon whisky, which he is confident has no equal in nounced incurable by their physicians, some after taking only one bottle of Strickland's Anti-Cholera Mixture.
